

The FCC has no business dictating what I can listen to. You have already done enough damage by permitting megaconglomerates to become even larger and restrict the diversity of what we can listen to. If I purchase a radio and pay a subscription to listen I expect to listen to what ever the company can deliver for my payment. This is both a fredom of speech issue and an area that needs less more diversity and services and not less.